

Qualification of Nano-Degree Graduates and their preferred Nano-Degree

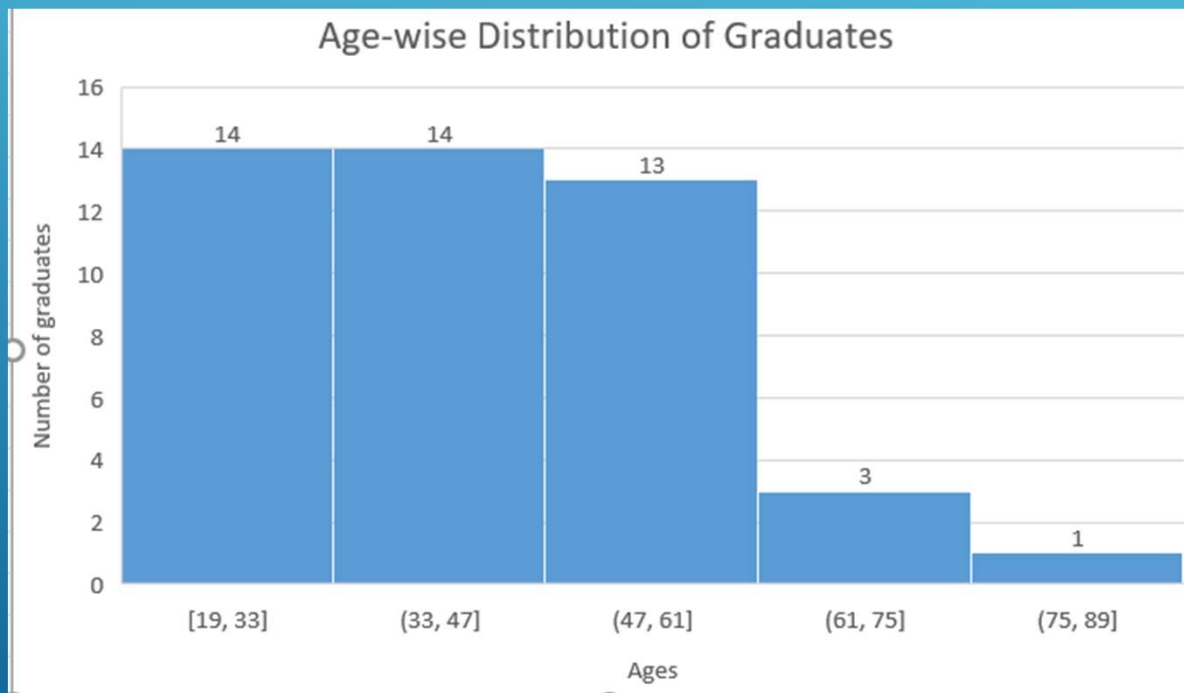

It is observed from the plot nano-degree is popular among master's and bachelor's students

Also the mode of the plot shows that students with master's degree are very inclined towards the nanodegree programs

It also depicts that deep learning foundation and data analyst nano-degrees are the most popular

Age-wise Distribution of Users

Nano-Degree is the most popular among the 28 year olds

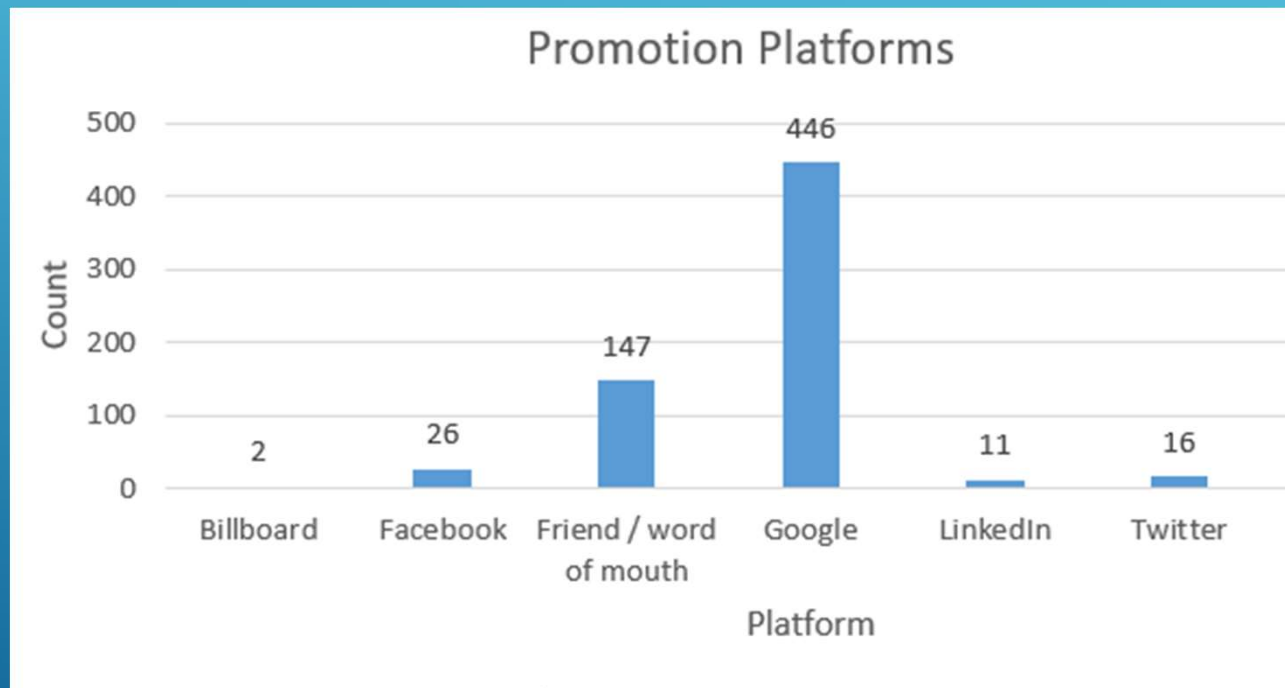

The average nanodegree graduate is generally 33 years old

The range of nano degree graduates is from 19 year old to 78 year old this chart left-skewed, with a standard deviation of 8.35 years. The youngest student is 19 years old and the oldest student is 78 years old, giving a range of 59 years.

The median age of the survey respondents is 31

Which is the most effective method Of promotion?

As per the survey respondents ,after google ,friend's advice is the major source of promotion for Udacity

Mode – google

Whereas the range of people attracted by these platforms is 444

Graduates across the Globe

Distribution of NanoDegree Graduates Across the Globe

According to the survey respondents, Nanodegree is the most popular in Argentina And least popular in Canada

With an average of 62 graduates from every country

With a max difference of 29 graduates as compared to graduates from argentina

There are some limitations to this dataset such as, This data is from Survey Respondents and is not from the entire Udacity Student population.